

Boulder County Thrift Stores and Reuse Businesses

A CIRCULAR ECONOMY GUIDE

Developed in Collaboration with the Boulder Chamber of Commerce,
Boulder County, The City of Boulder and Eco-Cycle

Welcome!

We've created this guide to increase community awareness of Boulder County's thrift and reuse businesses, and to encourage a more circular economy.

When you shop at these businesses, you support community members and our local economy, while reducing greenhouse gas emissions and conserving natural resources.

The descriptions here were drawn from thrift store websites and do not reflect opinions or specific recommendations from Boulder County, the City of Boulder, the Boulder Chamber of Commerce or Eco-Cycle. Please contact individual stores for their hours of operation.

A heartfelt thanks to Samuel Johnson-Saeger, who researched and collected much of the data used here. This guide was also made possible by Corine Waldau at the Boulder Chamber of Commerce, and Zachary Swank and Elizabeth French at Boulder County PACE.

Is your favorite thrift store missing? Information out of date? Please let us know so that we can include corrections in our next edition.

Are you a thrift store manager with questions or updates? Please contact us at 303-441-1931 or zerowaste@bouldercolorado.gov. Thank you.

Donation Guidelines

Please check with individual stores before donating materials. Thrift stores spend thousands of dollars each year on trash disposal for unusable, non-sellable donations.

- Never donate ripped, stained, dirty or smelly clothing.
- Never donate broken electronics or appliances.
- Many thrift stores do not want electronics over five years old.

Most thrift stores do not accept auto parts, landscaping materials, light fixtures, or kitchen sinks. However, Resource Central (included in this guide) does accept a range of remodeling and landscaping materials.

Household hazardous materials, such as paints, solvents, cleaners, and flammable materials, should be brought to the Boulder Country Hazardous Materials Management Facility. Call 720-564-2251 for more information.
